POLISH PATTERNS III (2009-2011)

What do you know about Poland? Even if you know a lot, you will be more than surprised. Abstract shots resemble paintings rather than photographs. Graphic compositions of fields and roads; rivers and meadows like puzzle cuts; surprisingly regular patterns on a frozen lake – these jigsaws are accessible only from above.

"The beauty of nature is such an obvious theme in art. But if you change your point of view – literally in my case – you will get puzzled. The Polish Patterns series reflects my fascination for the harmony and symmetry of the nature. I took all photos in the northern part of Poland called Pomerania – 50 km from my home. Polish landscape is so diverse that there is no need to travel far in search for themes."
